

Florida Cop Story

Thanks for the Dial

2 Men and a Boat

Some notes on the Florida scene, here your unvacationing editor still detained:

Miami police required to keep an up-to-the-minute log while cruising around in the city's prowlers. I learned this when the Associated Press carried an item from one of the police crew reports. The log read:

"2:39 a. m.—Took live duck into custody, transported to dog pound.

"2:50 a. m.—Time out to clean up car's interior.

"3:13 a. m.—Back in service."

I've lost another clipping I was going to comment upon, but the facts are easily remembered. It's about a housewife who is grateful for the dial telephone.

Going through her husband's clothes she found a piece of paper with a telephone number on it. So she dialed the number.

"City hall!" crackled the reply—and was she surprised!

Thankful, too.

They say you can't trace a suspicious wife's telephone call through a dial exchange.

Our southwest Arkansas fishermen ply local lakes and rivers with small boats and outboard engines, and many of them have been on the Gulf in big charter boats—but I have an adventure of some item here about a couple of clumps who tried to cross the Gulf from New Orleans to Bradenton, Fla., where I write this, in a small boat.

The Bradenton Herald reports that the 20-foot cabin cruiser Ronnie Dee, missing for seven days, has been located 85 miles off the Florida shore and the Coast Guard says her two-man crew are safe. They left Grand Rapids, Mich., early this month, came down the Mississippi river and entered the Gulf. Each night they were supposed to telephone relatives that they were still safe, and they did so until they cleared Panama City October 17—after which there was silence.

Ten Air Force and Guard planes began a search and a KC-97 finally spotted the craft stalled in the open sea with her occupants waving for help. The plane dropped food and water and radioed position to a Coast Guard cutter—ending the short but frightening saga of a couple of landlubbers trying to cross the Gulf in a one-engine craft.

U. S., Britain Hold Power of the Seas

By WILLIAM C. SEXTON

LONDON (UP) — The United States is still first and Britain second in naval power but both rank far behind Russia in undersea strength, Jane's Fighting Ships reported today.

The new edition of the authoritative encyclopedia of world naval power said, however, the Navy's two atomic submarines are the first step toward moving America ahead of the huge Russian submarine-building program.

It described construction of the two atomic submarines at New London, Conn., as a milestone "which may be as profound as the conversion from sails to mechanical power."

Jane's denied recent "misconstrued" reports that Britain has lost second place in naval strength to Russia. It gave these comparative figures:

Aircraft Carriers — U.S., 102; U. K., 11; U.S.S.R., 0.
Battleships — U.S., 15; U. K., 5; U. S. S. R., 3.
Cruisers — U.S., 75; U. K., 26; U.S.S.R., 20.
Destroyers — U.S., 351; U. K., 107; U.S.S.R., 83.
Destroyer Escorts, Frigates — U.S., 250; U. K., 161; U.S.S.R., 38.
Submarines — U.S., 201; U. K., 53; U.S.S.R., 370.

Tabulations include vessels laid up in "mothball" reserve fleets. In addition to the 370 conventional submarines on active duty in the Soviet Navy, there are an other 100 U-boats now under construction, Jane's said. All the new subs are snorkel-equipped for long-range submerged operation but they are based largely on World War II types, it added.

The U.S. is building eight subs, it said.

The encyclopedia indicated that despite recent nuclear discoveries, Soviet scientists still have not succeeded in harnessing atomic power for propelling ships.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

PARIS — A 20-year-old man was electrocuted here yesterday about a mile from the coal mine where he worked.

He was identified as Eugene Scott, of Paris.

Logan County Sheriff Pete Carter said Scott's body was found draped across a wire fence after he had apparently taken a short-cut to work and come into contact with a low-hanging electric line.

Municipal Judge Ray Blair, acting coroner, said the death was accidental.

Wants Social Security Tax Hike Dropped

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today Congress should knock down the billion-dollar social security tax increase which became effective Jan. 1.

George, senior Democrat on the tax-handling Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview it would be "less than fair" to persons in low-income brackets to let the increase stand while income tax rates go down.

The net result, he said, would be a bigger tax load on "the little fellow" and a tax saving to others. Many persons don't earn enough to be liable for income taxes, but the big majority of wage earners must pay social security taxes to finance the federal retirement and death benefit program.

Personal income tax rates, under existing law, will go down about 10 per cent on the first of the year. The excess profits tax on business expires at the same time. But Jan. 1 is also the date when social security taxes are due to go up from the present 1 1/2 to 2 per cent each on employees and employers.

Dr. Marshall to Conduct Baptist Meet

Dr. J. W. Marshall, who will be the evangelist at the First Baptist Church, November 1-8, is a man of varied training and experience which includes recognition as a youth leader, as an internationally known speaker, as a successful minister, a college president and an intrepid airplane pilot.

An invitation from Chinese Baptist Students took him to China for a country-wide student revival and opened his heart and life to the cause of missions. In 1951, he went again to the Orient on a preaching mission that took him to Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Japan and Formosa.

Later he became personnel secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Board, Richmond, Virginia. In this capacity he interviewed many young people who felt led to invest their lives in foreign mission work. At the close of World War II, he organized and conducted a party of 280 to Europe and the Holy Land, following the Baptist World Alliance in Stockholm.

Young Purse Snatcher Is Captured

A Negro youth snatched a purse from a woman's arm in downtown Hope this morning and ran about a block before dropping it while eluding a woman motorist who was trying to catch him.

The incident occurred in front of the B & B Grocery on East Second Street. Bethia Cox of Patmos was enroute to work at Shanhouse plant when the youth darted by, grabbed the purse and ran north along second.

Her screams to "stop him" brought help from Mrs. Frank Russell who was driving by. Mrs. Russell blocked the fugitive's path with her car and in his haste to go around the Negro boy dropped the purse and fled. Nothing was missing from the purse.

Police have the 13-year-old boy in custody.

Military to Salute Gen. Mark Clark

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tail, lanky Mark Wayne Clark, just one day away from donning his general's uniform, draws a final salute today from the Army he served more than 26 years — in glory and in controversy.

The last senior U. S. commander of World War II to end his active duty career, the 57-year-old soldier is being honored late today with a parade and reception at Washington's Ft. McNair.

The Army band, units from the 3rd Infantry Regiment, and a saluting battery of field guns are taking care of the formal field honors. A reception at the Ft. McNair officers club follows, with Army Vice Chief of Staff Gen. Charles L. Bolte acting as host in the absence of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, army chief of staff.

Diplomatic, congressional, military and civil defense officials have been invited.

Questioning to Be Resumed; Blowup Possible

By JAMES MORRISSEY

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The questioning of anti-Red war prisoners by Communist brainwashers may be resumed tomorrow or there may be a new blowup in the increasingly explosive situation.

Li Gen, K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission, said that the 7,300 anti-Red North Korean prisoners had agreed to face Communist questioners who will try to get them to go home.

But he added that the North Koreans had made certain demands about procedure, that the commission has rejected them and that he could not be sure the questioning would really start.

Shortly afterward, the Communists suddenly called a meeting of the military armistice commission for 3 p. m. Saturday (1 a. m. Saturday EST) to discuss prisoner problems.

The commission consists of United Nations, Chinese Communist and North Korean officers who supervise the truce. It has not met since Oct. 20.

The Communists may want to discuss either the questioning of anti-Red prisoners or a neutral nations repatriation commission investigation of the murder of four prisoners who apparently changed their minds and let it be known that they wanted to go home.

The questioning of anti-Red North Korean and Chinese prisoners has been suspended for 13 days because the Koreans refused to face the Communist brainwashers and the Communists refused to question Chinese prisoners first.

For the moment the whole questioning situation was confused, Indian spokesmen issued conflicting statements.

But Thimayya said the U.N. and Communist commands had been notified that the prisoner interviews would be resumed at 8 a. m. Saturday (6 p. m. Friday EST).

Thimayya said that — unless the prisoners change their minds and again refuse to leave their compounds — he proposes to send 500 of them to be questioned Saturday morning.

Under normal procedure, another 500 would be questioned in the afternoon.

Thimayya did not disclose demands the prisoners made as the price of resumed questioning. It was believed, however, that they insisted they would be questioned in groups by the Reds — not singly.

Thimayya first told correspondents that the Koreans "are coming out for explanations (questioning) tomorrow."

But then he mentioned the demands the prisoners had made. He said that he agreed they might present the demands to the neutral nations commission. But other members of the commission refused to receive the demands, he said.

"I don't know what will happen," Thimayya said after the commission turned down the prisoners' request. "But I hope they will attend the explanations."

"We shan't be sure until they get into the explaining compounds," Thimayya said. "These are a most unpredictable people. They may change their minds over the least little thing."

"We have been trying to get them to attend the explanations, but they put up certain demands. They said they wished to put their demands up to the N.N.R.C. and the world press."

The neutral commission meanwhile postponed until tomorrow its

Cling to Hope for Missing Babysitter

By CAL THORNTON

LA CROSSE, Wis. (UP) — Daffed police refused today to give up hope that missing baby sitter Evelyn Hartley will be found alive, even though they admit they have hit a "son't wall" in the case.

Law officers have had few new clues to work on, but similar leads have faded out during the grueling six-day hunt.

Evelyn, an attractive 15-year-old college professor's daughter, disappeared last Saturday night while baby sitting at a neighbor's home.

Sploches of blood described as "human" were found on the wall of an adjoining house. But the flung search for the girl, extending to distant San Antonio, Tex., to Chicago and to Wisconsin's chief city, Milwaukee, have failed to reveal her fate.

Authorities said their best current line of investigation is the search for a man who climbed through a window of a suburban Madison, Wis., home Friday night—the night before Evelyn's disappearance—and attacked a housewife.

The two cases were tied together by the presence of a tan-colored car bearing Illinois license plates reported cruising in the areas before both incidents.

La Crosse Sheriff Ivan Wright said there is good reason to believe the similarity is not coincidence.

La Crosse authorities said they have located witnesses who may be able to identify the man behind the wheel of the tan-colored car seen on the night of Evelyn's disappearance.

Says Red Cell Had Access to U. S. Secrets

WASHINGTON — Rep. Velde (R-Ill.) said today a super secret Communist cell of at least 13 persons had access to vital Navy Department secrets during World War II.

Velde, chairman of the House — American Activities Committee, said the full story of Communist infiltration in the Navy Department will come as "a terrific surprise to people" when it can be told in full. The Navy had no comment.

The committee has heard eight witnesses and Velde told newsmen heard. He said three are women, at least five others remain to be heard.

"The full expose of the case will have to be delayed for the present time for security reasons and to prevent any interference with justice," Velde stated.

The committee yesterday disclosed that the investigation involves Martin Sobell, convicted of espionage along with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The Rosenbergs were executed in June. The espionage charged to Sobell did not include atomic secrets, and he was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment.

Toll Bridge at L. R. Considered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission today authorized the study of the possibility of a toll bridge across the Arkansas River at Little Rock.

Chairman Raymond Orr stressed that the order for a survey did not constitute programming of the bridge for construction.

Greater Little Rock and Pulaski County interests have been seeking a third bridge as a partial solution of an ever-increasing traffic program.

The two existing highway bridges here are free spans.

U. S. Drafts Plan to Help State Drouth Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials today completed a draft of a proposed agreement with Arkansas for a state-federal program to help farmers in the state's drought area get hay aid.

H. L. Manwaring assistant administrator for the Production and Marketing Administration planned to communicate the text of the draft to Gov. Cherry and to Arkansas state Sen. Marvin Melton at Little Rock for their approval.

Under the proposed plan Arkansas will participate in a program to get cattle feed from northern states into the 54 Arkansas drought counties.

Railroads have agreed to cut freight rates on hay shipments 50 per cent. Arkansas and the federal government are to contribute funds to pay half of the remaining 50 per cent. Under this arrangement, Arkansas farmers would pay only a fourth of the normal freight rate, Arkansas is to administer the program.

Melton, as Cherry's representative, outlined the program to Manwaring at a conference earlier this week. The program he said is designed to enable farmers to keep livestock on their farms until pastures become available next spring.

Eldridge said the department had frequent requests for use of its equipment.

Eldridge was instructed to request bids for additional maintenance equipment, including 140 trucks, to cost an estimated 570,730.

ROK Declares Reds Slipping in Planes

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO (AP) The chief of South Korea's air force said today the Communists have spirited 400 fighter planes into North Korea in violation of the armistice and based them at 30 newly repaired airfields.

Li Gen, Choi Yong Duk told newsmen "the North Korean air force now has two divisions of MIGs and another division of propeller-driven craft south of the Manchurian border."

He said the Reds have another 2,000 warplanes in Manchuria, about two-thirds of them MIGs.

Choi stepped here en route to the United States where he will tour Air Force installations and confer with military officials.

The Korean truce signed last July 27 bans the movement of planes into Korea except as replacements. The armistice does not restrict the repair and construction of airfields.

In the case of North Korea, Choi said, incessant bombings during the war had made most Red airfields unusable and Communist planes were based north of the Yalu River boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

Appearing with him will be Russ Case and his orchestra and a singing group.

Highway to Rent Equipment to County

LITTLE ROCK (AP) The Arkansas Highway Commission yesterday agreed to place additional projects on its program for construction as soon as possible.

The commission has been limiting itself in its programming to jobs which could be done with available and appropriated funds.

Hereafter it may program up to the amount of any anticipated excess money.

These additional proposed jobs will have first priority if the anticipated excess materializes or if for any reason previously programmed projects can not be carried out.

The change was recommended by Highway Director Herbert Eldridge, who said it would assure a smooth flow of projects and build up a reserve of plans for needed jobs.

The present commission has adopted a policy that by programming a job it has committed itself to carry out that job.

The commission also authorized the Highway Department to rent to other state agencies and to municipalities and counties equipment for "tax supported operation shown to be 'clearly in the public interest.'"

Eldridge said the department had frequent requests for use of its equipment.

Eldridge was instructed to request bids for additional maintenance equipment, including 140 trucks, to cost an estimated 570,730.

LITTLE ROCK — Ben M. Hogan and Co. of Little Rock was apparent low bidder on paving of 11.23 miles of the new Little Rock-Benton highway in Saline County when bids on 14 projects were opened by the Highway Commission today.

Benton and the Saline-Pulaski section today. His proposal was $842,886. Paving of the new road between Benton and the Saline-Pulaski County line was the largest of the jobs involved in today's bidding. The total of apparent low bids was $3,144,262.

DOROTHY DIX

A Maid to Be Congratulated

Dear Miss Dix: I'm a lady of 26, with a good job, nice appearance and good personality. While I have no trouble carrying on a conversation or meeting people, I am the reserved type. My chief trouble concerns men. I have gone out with many men in the past few years, but have difficulty getting beyond the first few dates. It seems that after a date or two, the young man expects a good-night kiss—and that I am not prepared to give. When I snub their advances, I'm called an old-fashioned girl. When I do marry, I'd like to do without a book of regrets on past affairs.

Answer: Don't be too discouraged about your dating status. Many a maid has waited thirties, for her true and usually he comes along. Don't wait too placidly, however; do what you can to speed his arrival by spending as much time as possible in places where you are likely to meet men. In the interim, don't let down the barriers on your personal integrity. By the time a girl has passed 25 without a steady boyfriend, men are prone to regard her as so eager for male companionship that she'll make concessions to secure it. Then, of course when they tire of her, they go on to another compliant gal. Such men are not worth compromising one's principles, are they?

Appearance Counts

Perhaps there is something in your personal appearance of attitude that needs toning up. Many of the large cosmetic companies with associated beauty salons frequently have short courses of three to seven days, in personality analysis and improvement. If you have one of these salons in your town, see if they offer such a course. It will be worth your while. Often just a different touch with make-up, a new hairdo, or a few lessons in becoming attire, or general grooming can make a lot of difference to a girl's dating quotient. Keep yourself alert mentally, up-to-date on what goes in the world, and you should be well equipped to meet and keep the man you want.

Dear Miss Dix: A few weeks ago my husband's aunt called in the morning asking us to fill at bridge for her that night, taking the place of two guests who had disappointed her. We arrived for dinner a bit late, as I had warned her we might, only to find the other guests had reached dinner. Of course we were served the full meal, but still I was much hurt, and wouldn't eat at all. Was I justified?

Answer: Since you were enough to fill in at last minute, I do think the least that could have been done was hold dinner a few minutes more, only a few very special dishes, as so delicate that they can't be held a short time. However, sulking on your part wasn't the solution. You should have eaten your dinner in good grace, but been less hasty to accept any future invitations on the same basis.

Dear Miss Dix: How can I tell some mothers that their children are rapidly wearing out their welcome at my house? From the time school is out until dinner time the neighborhood youngsters congregate here. When I was their age I learned to do useful things like quilting, knitting etc. Why can't today's children be taught the same things?

Answer: If it's consolation, you must have a very warm personality and a pleasant home, to have so taken to cure it. In your case this many children like to be with you. However, when a problem becomes acute, drastic measures must be means telling mothers, in no uncertain terms, that you'd like time

Tennesseans Held in Holdup Check

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two

Tennesseans, held for questioning in a $50,000 burglary at the North Little Rock Stockyards, said today they hadn't been here recently.

But officers said they found a fresh towel and bar of soap from a North Little Rock motel in the pair's car.

Police Chief Jack Pyle said G. O. Wright, 40, and Nancy Bell were brought here yesterday after being picked up at El Dorado for questioning. No charge have been filed against them.

A third man, identified by Union

County Sheriff R. E. Buck as Cordeell Hull McPeck of Lebanon, Tenn., was being held in El Dorado for alleged violation of a federal firearms law.

Chief Pyle said that in addition to the towel and soap, officers also found $80 in cash, two gas masks, a file and a chisel in the Wright car.

Some $50,624 in checks was found in a paper sack in a residential section here yesterday. It was identified as the loot from the stockyards burglary. About $300 also was taken from the stockyards' safe.

Sunday School Lesson
 By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
 There seems little need today for churches in homes.
 But when we look back on the origins of the Christian Church we are reminded that the churches, in various places where the missionaries journeyed of Paul and others led to their establishment, were in the homes of the disciples.
 In Romans 16:3-5 Saint Paul, in greeting Priscilla and Aquila, says "Likewise greet the church that is in the house." A reference to that church in the home is also in I Corinthians 16:19.
 A church could not very well be maintained in a home without the family being a part of it, and family religion is strongly exemplified in the experiences of these early Christians. In Acts 18:8 is the reference to Crispus, who "believed on the Lord with all his house." Paul tells in I Corinthians 1:16 of his baptizing "the household of Stephanas." Ta rule well his own house (I Timothy 3:4) Paul set down as an essential qualification of a bishop.
 These illustrations and references which could be multiplied, indicate the great importance of the home and family in the beginnings of the Christian church. They suggest very clearly what ought to be the relationship between the church and the home, between Christian belief and practice and family life, at all times and in all places.
 One realizes, without undue pessimism, that in most, if not in all, communities today the facts and conditions, regarding church and home, are very different from those that the New Testament records. Here and there, there are undoubtedly still many homes, like that in which I myself grew up, in which religion is the dominant factor, and in which the home is closely allied to the church.

 But in the great multitude of modern homes I am inclined to think that such strictly Christian homes are the exceptions, even where there is profession of Christian faith. For good or bad, the rule of parents in the home is no longer what it was in those early Christian homes.
 Children early have a life and freedom of their own, and the "head" of the home no longer determines what shall be.
 Present-day conditions create new difficulties, as families are not often together as they once were. Mothers always conducted worship in the home, where we were together there until we grew up.
 Though he was a busy and hard-working merchant, time for such family worship was available, as it have not have been had he been a workman, going early to work to work and returning late, or as a muter catching an early train to work in a nearby city, also returning late, or as a conditions can hardly be exaggerated.
 But the ideal implied in Christian faith and teaching, and in the close association of home and church in the days of early Christianity, still remains.

THE CHURCH and their messages are the guide posts on this road.

THE PUBLIC SPIRITED FIRMS listed on this page urge church support and attendance -- this working toward a greater and more spiritual community in which to live and rear our families.

Indonesia Volcano Again Erupting

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) -- Krakatau, the island volcano which set off tidal waves killing 30,000 persons when it blew its top 70 years ago, is spewing ash and fire in a new series of eruptions.
 The Indonesian government's volcanological service in Bandung has reported over 100 explosions in the past four days.
 To damage or casualties have been recorded, but the volcanological service has warned authorities in coastal areas

STAND FIRM...

God told Joshua to be strong and of good courage. True courage is having resolute mind in a righteous cause. The breakers have been pounding for ages but the rocks stand firm. The metal of a man is tempered by the blows of adversity he withstands. Greatness of character lies in force of soul. Men may misjudge you and falsely blame you; hold fast, stand firm... Christ is your judge, not they. The greater the breakers the more worthy the glory. Arm yourself with resolution. Be firm. Attend church. Stand for right. Don't compromise and stay on the beam. STAND FIRM, then God will see you through.
